THE MEXICAN WAR VETERANS.

The state convention of the Mexican war veterans, which was held in Springfield on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, was well attended, some seventy-five being present, and was an occasion of rare interest to the survivors of what now seems almost as far in the past as the wars of antiquity. In the absence of the president of the state association, Col. Foris Forman, of Vandalia, Capt. Urry, of this city, (who is and was the vice president of the 11th District), called the convention to order, and nominated Col. D. C. Barr, of Paris, as chairman.

The chair stated the object of the assembly to be the furtherance of the movement of the Mexican veterans to secure adequate recognition from the general government in the form of pensions.

The following veterans from Macon county were present: W. J. Urry, J. W. Hartley, Henry C. Lord, George W. Abbott, E. Workholder, Fred. Mahorn.

Officers for the ensuing year were then chosen, Col. Forman being re-elected president, Capt. Urry vice president of the 11th district, and Captain John W. Hartley, of this city, secretary.

Upon invitation of the convention, ex-Governor Palmer, Hon. S. M. Cullem and Hon. W. M. Springer addressed the veterans.

It was resolved that the next annual reunion should be held in Springfield, on the second Tuesday in October, 1876.

It was also decided that the widows and orphans of veterans should be invited to participate in the next reunion.

The delegates to the national convention, which is to meet Feb. 22d, in Washington, and July 4th, 1876, in Philadelphia, were instructed to use all their efforts to secure the passage by congress of a law granting pensions to the survivors of the Mexican war.

It is estimated that there are now residing in Illinois between 600 and 700 veterans who served with the army that carried the stars and stripes from the Rio Grande to the City of Mexico.

THE BISHOP ELECTION OF ILLINOIS.

Our news columns to-day announced the election of Dr. W. M. McLaren as Episcopal Bishop of Illinois.

Many of our readers will remember the new bishop, who, in the early part of 1867, held a series of meetings in the Presbyterian church of this city. At that time he resided in Peoria, and was a pulpit orator of very extraordinary power. From Peoria he went to Detroit, Mich., as pastor of a very large and wealthy congregation of Presbyterians. It was while living in Detroit that he withdrew from the church of his ancestors, and entered the communion of the Episcopal church. The sketch which is given of him in our news columns is wrong, in that it places this event in his history too early. We are informed by those who have the best means of knowing that he united with the Episcopal church only four years ago, was made a deacon in the early part of 1872, and was by recent dispensation invested with priestly orders a few months afterwards, so that he comes to the episcopal office with only a little over three years of clerical experience in the church. While this extraordinary rapid rise to the episcopacy is very unusual, we learn that it is not the first instance of the kind in the history of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

Inasmuch as the question of high church or low church has been the bone of contention in this State, ever since a vacancy occurred in the episcopacy, the position of the bishop elect becomes a matter of great interest. Coming, as he does, so recently from the communion of another church, and with all the traditions of Scotch Presbyterianism that would naturally attach to his early training and habits of thought, it would not be unreasonable to suppose that his sympathies would be with the low church party, but we are advised that such is not the fact. Since his union with the Episcopal church we learn that, to use an expression well understood by high churchmen, "he has developed wonderfully," and that his views with reference to the Holy Eucharist are substantially the same as those held by Dr. De Koven and other high churchmen.

It seems to be the general impression that he will be confirmed by the standing committees of the other dioceses, and that this will end the long and bitter struggle which has been going on over the question of the succession to Bishop Whitehouse, ever since the death of that eminent prelate.

THE ILLINOIS BANDITS.

Story of the Capture and Confession of Samuel Musie.

The Carbonado correspondent of the Cairo Indefatigable furnishes the following interesting particulars concerning the discovery and arrest of the Williamson county outlaws.

CARBONADO, Ill., Sept. 11, 1875. Our whole town was in a whirl of excitement last night when I sent you the dispatch concerning the arrests of the Williamson county assassins. I tried to give you a brief but correct report, and succeeded, as well as possible under the circumstances. I will now go more into the details.

Samuel Musie was arrested in Cairo, and had been recently at work across the river in Missouri. Sam is a man about 28 years of age. He has made Carbonado his home for six or eight years. He is what might be properly termed a "hard case," drinking and carousing frequently. He has a bad eye in his head, and is altogether a man for whom the people at large had little use, though it is not known that he had, previous to this, been engaged in any really criminal business. For a year and a half past he has been working for Mr. J. W. Landrum, whose farm is near Carlinville. His associates were entirely among the Bulliners and their friends. He was just the man to be made their tool, and how well and yet how badly he has performed their work the results show.

That your readers may see clearly the starting point, I will say that the killing of Spence, at Carlinville, was witnessed by a resident of that neighborhood. This gentleman, whose name for wise purposes is withheld from the public, told his story to several persons in whom he had implicit confidence. He intimated to Officer Lowe that if he would arrest Sam Musie and ply him plentifully with whisky he could get a clue that would expose the whole business. Accordingly the arrest was made. Lowe and his prisoner passed through here yesterday morning. Musie was benevolently supplied with whisky, seemed happy as a lord, and generously treated some of his acquaintances. On arriving at Marion he was just in the proper mood to "squell," and a clever advantage was taken to draw from him everything he knew.

Musie was taken into the confidence of the Bulliners a year or fifteen months ago. Since that time he has been generally posted in regard to the actions of that gang. It will be recollected that two men, about one year ago, attempted to shoot Captain Sisney early in the morning, but their guns did not go off. Upon Sisney's evidence one Cagle was arrested for this attempt, and now he is in jail in Marion. Musie declares the innocence of Cagle, and says that Allen Baker was one of the parties. The other party was not mentioned that I can learn of.

Baker has lived here a large portion of the time for the past four years. He is a desperado in every sense of the word. I will refer to him again before I close this letter. The murder of Captain Sisney was committed by Marshall Crain, John Bulliner and Sam Musie. They had been watching their opportunity about a week. When Mr. Stanley came to Carbonado and began to inquire for Sisney, his steps were continually dogged by Musie until Mr. S. was traced to Sisney's house. By the time the victim came down stairs the assassins were at their posts. Bulliner and Crain were waiting at the window with their weapons in their hands, while Musie was on the watch. Crain was the first to make the attempt on the life of Sisney, but the cap on his gun snapped. Crain then fired the fatal shot. Crain had secured a portion of his clothes, shoes, etc., at the out-lets of the town before going to the fatal work. These were taken to him by Musie the following morning. Musie declares that Mr. Stanley was entirely innocent of any participation in the crime. The assassination of Spence followed hard upon that of Sisney. Spence was also murdered by Marshall Crain, assisted by Musie. As before, did the watching. Marshall Crain called the victim from his bed and killed him. According to Musie I was correct when I stated in a recent letter that Spence was killed because he knew too many of the assassin's secrets. Musie says that was the reason given why Spence must be killed, but he (Musie) believed that the leaders of the gang wanted to get Spence's money after the tools had done their bloody work. The price paid Crain for the murder of Sisney was $100. One hundred and fifty of this was paid by the Bulliners, the other ten by another party whose name has slipped my memory. The price paid for Spence's life, or how the blood money was divided, I could not learn.

Immediately after the confession of Musie, Sheriff Norris, of Williamson, called to his aid a posse of thirty or forty of the county's best citizens—men equal to the desperate emergency. Armed to the teeth, the Sheriff and posse started out to arrest the gang. A portion came to Carlinville and arrested a number of the gang. They took their prisoners to Carlinville, where Dr. McCarty and John Bulliner were at once arrested. Thereafter a large party went in pursuit of Monroe and Marshall Bulliner. Those men were reported as being captured during the night. The report comes from pretty fair authority, but it may prove incorrect. Officer Lowe came on to this place. He secured the assistance of City Marshal Brush, and proceeded to Duquoin, where they arrested Allen Baker. They brought him down on the midnight train, and took him to Marion this morning. Baker said but little about his arrest, but it is believed that he will join Musie in making a confession, for this reason: Some four weeks ago Baker was working for Mr. Purdy at a sawmill two or three miles east of this place. I believe Baker was notified to leave, but paid no attention to the notice. At any rate, a fearful charge of shot was fired at him through the window, but missed him. He then left and went to Duquoin. Musie says that Marshall Crain also fired this shot—that Crain was getting fearful that Baker would expose the gang, and thought it best to put him out of the way. From what I know of Baker, when he is informed of the treachery of Crain he will make a clean breast of all he knows.

Neither Monroe, Bulliner, or Marshall Crain has been taken. It is believed the latter left about a week ago for Arkansas or Missouri. Musie is in full retirement. The other arrested parties are under guard. Our whole community is in full rejoicing. We believe the vandals are at an end. With the breaking up of the Bulliner gang the others will doubtless flee the country, and we shall have peace once more.

A discussion on the merits of the nominees then took place, after which the balloting began. The first vote resulted: Clerical vote—McLaren, 30; DeKoven, —; Ayrault, 1; scattering, 4; no choice. Second ballot: McLaren, 39; DeKoven, 14; Ayrault, 1; scattering, 6. This gave a considerable majority to McLaren from the clergy, and he was confirmed by the laity: yes, 55; nays, 3. The Bishop elect is now Rector of Trinity Church, Cleveland. He was born in Geneva, N. Y., in 1831, graduated at Jefferson College, Pennsylvania, in 1851, is a ready speaker and writer, and was once editor of the Cleveland Plaindealer; subsequently he became a Presbyterian minister, and was a missionary to South America three years under the auspices of that church, and was very successful. In 1867, after a careful study of the church system, he transferred his allegiance to the Episcopal body, and six months thereafter was confirmed as a pastor, and became rector of Trinity Church. Physically as well as mentally he is powerful, and he has assimilated rapidly with the church of his adoption.

Utrou, N. Y., Sept. 15.—The ninth re-union of the Army of the Cumberland began here this morning. A large number of strangers are here, and every house is decorated. The procession was very fine. President Grant, Gen. Lockyer, Sheridan and Sherman and Senator Conkling are among those present.

At the afternoon session of the meeting of the Army of the Cumberland, the following officers were elected: President, Gen. Phil. H. Sheridan; among the Vice Presidents were: Theo. F. Brown, of Illinois; Gen. W. W. Lowe, of Iowa; W. D. Whipple, of Nebraska. The next annual meeting will be held at Philadelphia, July 6th and 7th, 1876.

President Grant, in response to ovations and cheers made a few remarks. He excused himself from making a speech, but said he would like to write and have the vast audience read what he could tell of the glorious deeds of the Army of the Cumberland. He said there were others waiting to follow him, who were not affected with his difficulty, i. e., the want of faculty of talking in public. This point was received with great laughter and cheers. General Sherman was next called for, and the audience arose and gave him three hearty cheers. Gen. Sherman's speech was a magnificent tribute to the Army of the Cumberland.

New York, Sept. 15.—The large number of arrivals at Utica indicates that the meeting of the Army of the Cumberland will be much larger than last year.

President Grant will arrive from the east at four o'clock in the morning, in a special car. He then goes to Senator Conkling's house. Gen. Sherman telegraphs that he will arrive at the same hour from the west with large delegations of officers who have joined him on the way. He will be the guest of Judge Ward Hunt. There is much disappointment at the absence of Gen. Sheridan.

Gen. Hooker, first Vice President, will preside in Sheridan's stead, if the condition of his health does not prevent. Gov. Tilden has consented to be present to welcome the Association on behalf of the State, but now declines. Senator Conkling will therefore extend the welcome.

Utica is in a blaze of excitement; the streets are elaborately decorated, and the military parade on Thursday will be large. The citizens of Utica turned a grand ball and collation at the Opera House, for which the preparations are complete.

Among the arrivals are Gen. Parkhurst, Provost Marshal of the Army of the Cumberland; Gen. H. M. Sick; Gen. H. F. Gross; Col. Fred. Grant; Gen. Horace Porter; Col. J. C. Audenot; Gen. Eli Murray; Gen. Cust. Secretary of the Association, and Gen. Fullerton.

Speech by the President.

BEECHER TO BRITTON.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—The Episcopal Diocesan Convention met again to-day. The election of Bishop being in order, the following nominations were made:

Dr. Locke nominated Dr. W. M. McLaren, Dr. Leffingwell nominated Jas. DeKoven, and Dr. Cross nominated Dr. Geo. F. Seymour. Mr. McMurphy read a letter from the latter nominee, stating he could not endure to be the occasion of bitterness and strife to the diocese, and forbidding the use of his name for Bishop of Illinois. His name was then withdrawn and Dr. Walter Ayrault, rector of Mohart College, New York, was nominated.

A discussion on the merits of the nominees then took place, after which the balloting began. The first vote resulted: Clerical vote—McLaren, 30; DeKoven, —; Ayrault, 1; scattering, 4; no choice. upon the fact that the Patrons of Husbandry have secured the agency for the celebrated Smith Wagon, a full stock of which will be kept at the store in court house block. This wagon is too well known to require much commendation at our hands, the factory at which it is made being one of the oldest in the west. It has been before the people so long that its reputation is well established.—

The Patrons had the agency here last year, and were quite successful in disposing of a large number, all of which gave the most entire satisfaction to the persons purchasing them. As heretofore the wagons will be sold under the strictest warranty as to material and workmanship. The Patrons will also be prepared in a short time, to fill orders.
